Every Race, Every Voice, Every Triumph.

At MTT, we measure impact in a few different ways. We know that our numbers matter. But we also know that every connection forged, barrier broken, and the moments that, in hindsight, shape a movement- are important impact to track, too. And in 2024, MyTeam Triumph Wisconsin wasn't just hosting events—we were redefining what it means to belong. Every race, every voice and ever triumph truly has a real and lasting impact for our participants and our communities.

Look at any starting line, and you'll see something remarkable. A nervous energy buzzing through the crowd, athletes adjusting their gear, volunteers offering last-minute words of encouragement. But what's truly extraordinary is what happens after the race begins. The miles disappear. The differences fade. And in their place, a shared purpose emerges—one footfall at a time.

This past year, our many regions came alive with training runs, social gatherings, and race days time and time again. Captains and Angels built and deepened friendships that extended beyond race day. They challenged assumptions, grew in confidence, had FUN, and created meaningful memories.

The strength of MyTeam Triumph has always been its people—supporters like you who believe in a world where everyone belongs at the starting line. As we push forward into another year, we do so knowing that each connection, each race, each triumph carries a ripple effect that extends further than we can imagine.

Thank you for being part of this movement. The road ahead is bright, and I can't wait to see you on it.

When I am having a rough day and we do an MTT event of any kind, it just makes me feel good. The people and the whole experience are my calm and peace place."

-MTT Captain

of Captains and Angels said participating in MTT events made them feel more connected to their community.

92%

of respondents reported that MTT had a positive impact on their physical and mental well-being.

2024 Programming Impact

Inclusive Racing

In 2024, MyTeam Triumph provided race opportunities where athletes with disabilities (Captains) teamed up with able-bodied volunteers (Angels) to experience the thrill of endurance events together. These races fostered inclusion, empowerment, and lifelong friendships.

Training & Social Events

Throughout the year, we hosted group training runs, meetups, and social gatherings, giving Captains and Angels opportunities to connect, train, and prepare for race day while strengthening bonds beyond the finish line.

Youth Engagement

We engaged the next generation by partnering with schools, youth programs, and community groups to educate and involve young athletes in inclusive fitness opportunities.

Operation Guardian Angel

Through this initiative, we provided veterans with disabilities the chance to participate in endurance events, promoting connection, camaraderie, and physical well-being.

Equipment & Resources

In 2024, we supplied specialized race equipment and resources to ensure that all athletes, regardless of ability, had access to safe, high-quality experiences in endurance events.
